

Specialization: Since 2017, we have been working hard to become the largest producer of dissertations. With more than 1,200 productions a year, we are the market leader in the Netherlands. We focus on dissertations only. Since the needs of PhD students are very diverse, this specialization is essential. We will guide you through the entire process: We will discuss your wishes, take care of the layout and organize production. Next, we can deliver your books anywhere in the world.

Tailor-made service: ProefschriftMaken's team includes several disciplines. You will be assigned a support contact who will guide you through the full process. In addition, several specialists will assist you during various stages. The printing quality of the files will be checked and we will consult with you to ensure that all files are optimal before anything goes into production. In addition, we have in-house designers. So if you want a unique cover or have special requests for the interior of your book, we can arrange that. We also have a large network of external designers who can realize the most diverse wishes.

Production: The latest technologies in the field of print-on-demand mean that we can produce your books at any time in any quantity you desire. We can print a sample book, identical to a real production copy, which allows you to inspect a physical copy before we start the actual order. We also look at which production method (toner or inkjet) best suits your dissertation and adapt our offer accordingly. Working with us means that you won't pay too much if it is not needed, but that you will get the best possible print quality.

Publication: Different possibilities to publish your thesis digitally such as an eBook, but also an eThesis which is the latest development. Digital publishing is the most sustainable way of distributing your thesis so also something to take into account!
